

About the program:

Health Information Management (HIM) is a fast-growing profession in health care.

Professionals in this field have the opportunity to work in a vast array of roles including data analytics, project management, healthcare management, and governance.

The Blessing-Rieman College of Nursing and Health Sciences (BRCN) Associate of Science in HIM program is 100% online and provides the marketable skills and knowledge to:

- Ensure the accuracy, usefulness, integrity, and protection of patient health information
- Apply skills for the implementation of electronic health information systems
- Assess and strategically plan for healthcare data and information needs to both manage and improve the quality of clinical and business operations
- Apply leadership skills to manage new and exciting operational and technology-related projects for HIM

The entire program can be completed in as little as 3 semesters and also includes:

- 270 hours of virtual hands-on experience
- 40 practicum hours

Admission Requirements:

- ≥ 22 ACT score/1100 SAT (Currently Waived)
- ≥ 2.25 on a 4.0 scale cumulative and prerequisite GPA
- Completion of the following general education courses (with a grade of $\geq C-$):
 - Speech
 - History, Literature, Philosophy or Fine Art
 - Introduction to Psychology or Sociology
- Completion of the following prerequisite courses (with a grade of $\geq C-$):
 - English Composition I
 - Human Anatomy & Physiology I with Lab
 - Human Anatomy & Physiology II with Lab

General education and prerequisite courses may be taken at any accredited college or university

How to apply:

Apply online through the BRCN website: www.brcn.edu, or request an application by calling 1-800-877-9140, or email admissions@brcn.edu.

Other documents required for application:

- Official ACT/SAT scores (Optional)
- Official College Transcripts

Please send all documentation to admissions@brcn.edu or
Blessing-Rieman College of Nursing & Health Sciences
Attn: HIM Program
3609 N. Marx Drive
Quincy, IL 62305

For additional questions, visit our website at www.brcn.edu or contact us at admissions@brcn.edu

